

"I would rather sit on a pumpkin, and have it all to myself, than be crowded on a velvet cushion." Henry David Thoreau

Boo! "Hello" for Halloween! My two fur folks will not be costuming up...if yours are, please be very careful with their disguise so movement, sight, breathing, hearing are not impaired. NO people "treats" for them. It is scary for animals due to the noise...panic and possible escape happens with open doors! Careful!

EVENTS AND MY NEWS FLASHES

COME TO MY FENG SHUI "PLAYSHOP"! I will be doing a 2 hour talk / workshop on black hat feng shui at Aum & Garden, Sherman Oaks, CA Nov. 2, Sunday, from 2PM to 4PM. WHERE?

Talking "Aloha" in Helsinki, finding each other's energetic fields...everything is alive, aware, reactive! Visiting Old Town Tallinn, Estonia was an experience walking through time lines that included Celtic (Druid times!), Viking, Medieval, Empire style, Scandia Stave architecture all mixed with touches of Russian onion tops and icons. From Fortress walls to ancient churches all still in good use. Beautiful days along the Baltic Sea along with great sharing of Huna, Feng Shui, and Animal Communications!

Some GREAT advice for the holidays:

Here's a few safety tips from the American Veterinarian Assoc. <https://www.avma.org/public/PetCare/Pages/halloween.aspx>

7 Things You Can Do to Make Halloween Safer for Your Pet

1. Don't feed your pets Halloween candy, especially if it contains chocolate or xylitol (a common sugar substitute found in sugar-free candies and gum).
2. Make sure your pet is properly identified (microchip, collar and ID tag) in case s/he escapes through the open door while you're distracted with trick-or-treaters.
3. Keep lit candles and jack-o-lanterns out of reach of pets.
4. If you plan to put a costume on your pet, make sure it fits properly and is comfortable, doesn't have any pieces that can easily be chewed off, and doesn't interfere with your pet's sight, hearing, breathing, opening its mouth, or moving. Take time to get your pet accustomed to the costume before Halloween, and never leave your pet unsupervised while he/she is wearing a costume.
5. Keep glow sticks and glow jewelry away from your pets. Although the liquid in these products isn't likely toxic, it tastes really bad and makes pets salivate excessively and act strangely.
6. If your pet is wary of strangers or has a tendency to bite, put him/her in another room during trick-or-treating hours or provide him/her with a safe hiding place.
7. Keep your pet inside.

Animals DO have jobs! : my blog at: <http://www.animalhearttalk.com/animals-jobs/>

Everyday is a "work day" for our pets. They have specific purpose, and even "missions". Like an acorn grows into an oak tree...animals trust their "flow" and know exactly what they are "to do" as well as what to bring to their people's lives.

Animals always live in the present moment, Rumi's favorite bag is now "Merimekko" and find their way into your open heart. Get flowing from your heart to find their heart's "job", you may just find out what your heart is asking YOU to give to the world!
